Tennessee American Water Accepting Applications for 2019 Environmental Grant Program

Funds Support Collaborative Water Protection Projects in the Community

Chattanooga, Tenn. January 25, 2019 –Applications are now being accepted for Tennessee American Water’s 2019 Environmental Grant Program. The program supports innovative, community-based environmental projects that improve, restore or protect watersheds and water sources through partnerships. Diverse activities like watershed cleanups, water quality monitoring, biodiversity projects, surface or groundwater protection education, wellhead protection initiatives and hazardous waste collection efforts are examples of projects supported through this grant program.

The environmental grant program is competitive-based and last year Tennessee American Water awarded $10,000 in total grant funding between four organizations.

“Our Environmental Grant Program has been used for a variety of activities like watershed learning labs for students and watershed protection and monitoring,” said Daphne Kirksey, External Affairs Manager. “The future of our water systems relies on educating the public.”

“Tennessee American Water is committed to delivering clean water to each customer and this program is an additional resource our community can utilize to make an impact on the environment.”

The grant application, details about the grant requirements, and examples of projects can be found at <https://amwater.com/tnaw/news-community/environmental-grant-program> which is located under the News & Community tab of the Company website, www.tennesseeamwater.com

Applications must be received or post-marked by Monday, March 29, 2019.
